CHAIR'S MESSAGE

I am pleased to report that over the past year, the Landlord and Tenant Board (the Board, the LTB) succeeded in resolving disputes between landlords and tenants in an expedient manner without any backlog. This, despite the fact that the Board's application receipts increased by approximately 6.5% over last year.

The Board has made progress over the past year on a number of important initiatives which will enable it to improve the quality and timeliness of its work as well as service to its clients. These initiatives include: electronic hearing pilot projects; a "Case Manager" pilot project; publication of redacted orders on the Board's website; release of an internal administrative policy on privacy and access to information; development of a human rights strategy and progress on a new case management system, Cmore (pronounced See-more). For more information about these initiatives, please refer to the "Year in Review" section of this report.

I wish to acknowledge the valuable feedback and input of stakeholders from the tenant and landlord communities. The on-going dialogue between the Board and these stakeholder representatives ensures that the views of both landlord and tenant groups are given the necessary attention in the development of procedures, forms, Rules of Practice and Interpretation Guidelines.

I am grateful to the Members and staff of the Board who work together closely as a team to fulfill the LTB's dual mandate of providing information to landlords and tenants on their rights and obligations and providing dispute resolution through mediation and adjudication.

I appreciate the diligent efforts of Board Vice Chairs and Members in issuing decisions in keeping with the principles of timeliness, accessibility, fairness and customer focus. Together these principles underscore the effectiveness of the Board. The focus of the Board is to ensure that these principles are incorporated at every step in the execution of its mandate without fettering the independent decision-making power of the Board Members.

The Vice Chairs also play an important role in leading various committees and in the policy work they do for the Board. My appreciation and thanks go to Murray Graham, Kim Bugby, Eli Fellman, Régent Gagnon, Sean Henry, Guy Savoie and Jonelle van Delft.

I also acknowledge and thank the Board's administrative and legal staff – in particular, Diana Macri, Director of Operations and Anne McChesney, Director of Legal Services – for the leadership and high quality of service they provide in support of the Board's quasi-judicial mandate. I also wish to acknowledge the valuable support of my Executive Assistant, Suzanne Evans, and my Administrative Assistant, Sue Woodland.

This past year, the Board said good-bye to two people who contributed significantly to its success. In June 2008, Rick Hennessy, the Regional Manager of the Board's Toronto North regional office left to take up the position of Registrar at the new Human Rights Tribunal of Ontario. Rick participated in five major changes in landlord/tenant legislation. In January 2009, Dianne Dougall said good-bye to public service and retired from her position as Legal Director at the Board. Dianne has made an immense contribution throughout her 24-year career at the Ministry of the Attorney General.

Sincerely,

Lilian Ma, Ph.D., LL.B.
Chair
Landlord and Tenant Board

YEAR IN REVIEW

At the onset of the 2008-2009 fiscal year, the Board had just completed its first full year of implementing the Residential Tenancies Act, 2006 (the RTA). That year, 2007-2008, the Board achieved a period of stability in its administration of the RTA, following a smooth transition on January 31, 2007.

In 2008-2009, the Board turned its attention to opportunities for enhancing its service delivery - such as the development of a new case management system, the publication of redacted orders, the monitoring and adjusting of its case management practices to improve accessibility and timely service to its clients, as well as the effective use of its resources.

Electronic Hearings Pilot Project

In January 2009, the LTB introduced a six-month pilot project expanding the use of telephone and videoconference technologies for mediation and hearings in a few locations across the province. The Board has used teleconference and videoconference hearings widely in northern Ontario for a number of years, therefore it was anticipated that this initiative would allow the Board to provide more timely service in the pilot areas and improve accessibility. The areas in which the pilot projects were implemented were the counties of Bruce, Grey, Haldimand/Norfolk and Huron for telephone hearings. Face-to-face hearings were held where telephone hearings were not appropriate.

Initial results of the pilot projects show that telephone hearings work well where applications are uncontested. In the district of Thunder Bay, the Board introduced videoconferencing augmented by teleconferencing for hearings.

Case Manager Pilot Project

In its busy urban offices, the LTB normally conducts hearings in more than one hearing room simultaneously. However, each hearing block contains 40-50 cases, many of which are uncontested on the day of the hearing.

In March 2009, the LTB's Toronto North regional office began a "Case Manager" pilot project to seek ways to improve the handling of cases on the hearing day. The goal of the pilot project was to explore options for disposing of simple matters quickly (such as requests for withdrawals, adjournments and uncontested cases), thus allowing the Member(s) sufficient time to deal with more complex cases. As a result, the idea of having a Case Manager to triage the cases on the day of hearing evolved.

In the first model explored, the role of the Case Manager was to triage the cases that appear on the hearing docket. Contested matters were sent to the Hearing Member(s) or the Mediator(s), depending on the interests of the parties and/or the suitability of the issues. Uncontested matters, withdrawal requests, consent and straightforward adjournment requests and consent orders were handled by the Case Manager who is also a Board Member.

In the second model, all straightforward cases were sent from the Hearing Member(s) to the Case Manager.

At the end of the 2008-2009 fiscal year, the LTB is examining a third model in which all parties on their first appearance for a case go before the Case Manager, while second appearances go straight to a Hearing Member. In this model, the scheduling of cases will also be changed to achieve the optimal result. The results of these projects will be evaluated in 2009-10.

During the next year, the Board will continue to explore the practicality of the Case Manager role as well as the potential benefit of further changes to scheduling practices and standards to facilitate hearing day management.

Redacted Orders

Also in March 2009, to provide the public with transparency of its decisions, the Board began posting redacted orders on its website. Redacted orders are orders from which information has been removed to protect the privacy of individuals named in the order, having regard to the provisions of the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act.

The orders being redacted are those that result from contested applications. The work involved in redacting orders is a joint effort of Board Members and staff. Members write their decisions in a "pre-redaction" format which facilitates the transfer and organization of orders on the Board's website, by application type, month and region.

The Board continues to post summaries of its selected decisions. Selected decisions are decisions chosen by a committee of the Board. These decisions are not binding on Members of the Board, nor are they intended to reflect the official position of the Board on how to interpret or apply the law. The criteria that are applied in choosing selected decisions are set out on the Board's website.

Administrative Policy on Privacy and Access to Information

In April 2009, an Administrative Policy on Privacy and Access to Information was issued to all Board staff and Members. The policy sets out the Board's policy and procedures related to access to Board information by the public. It also sets out measures the Board has taken to protect the privacy of individuals whose personal information is in the Board's possession. The policy incorporates best practices concerning the handling of paper files and electronic devices.

YEAR IN REVIEW

Human Rights Guideline

Over the course of the fiscal year, the Board's Rules and Guidelines committee developed a Human Rights Guideline as part of the Board's overall Human Rights Strategy to address its obligations under the Human Rights Code (the Code). The Board consulted with members of the Stakeholder Advisory Committee and the Ontario Human Rights Commission on its draft Guideline.

The Guideline, which addresses the various Code issues that may arise in a Board proceeding, is expected to be released in the summer 2009.

In conjunction with the development of the Human Rights Guideline, the Board has been developing tools and training to assist Board Members and staff in ensuring that the Board continues to meet its obligations under the Code.

New Case Management System

The Board's increased workload over the past fiscal year has represented a challenge, particularly as the Board has been managing budgetary pressures through vacancy management.

Since the fall of 2008, the Board has also been diverting call centre resources to assist in testing its new case management system, Cmore, which was launched shortly after the end of the fiscal year covered by this report.¹ The patience and understanding of the Board's clients who have coped with longer than usual wait-times on the call centre and at the front counters is very much appreciated.

The work the Board has done over the past year has laid the foundation for its future success in meeting the needs of the landlord and tenant community in Ontario. The Board is committed to working with its stakeholders to achieve service excellence.

¹ Cmore was launched successfully on April 27, 2009.

THE ROLE OF THE BOARD

Section 1 of the Residential Tenancies Act, 2006 (the RTA) sets out the purposes of the Act, as follows:

- provide protection for residential tenants from unlawful rent increases and unlawful evictions;
- establish a framework for the regulation of residential rent;
- balance the rights and responsibilities of residential landlords and tenants; and,
- provide for the adjudication of disputes and for other processes to informally resolve disputes.

Dual Mandate

The RTA, which establishes the Landlord and Tenant Board, confers a dual mandate on the Board.

Firstly, the LTB exercises a quasi-judicial function under subsection 168(2) of the RTA, which provides that the Board has jurisdiction to determine all applications under the RTA, and section 174, which provides the Board with the authority to hear and determine all questions of law and fact with respect to all matters within its jurisdiction under the Act.

Second, pursuant to section 177 of the RTA, the LTB is required to give information to landlords and tenants about their rights and obligations.

Mission Statement

Thus the Board has adopted the following Mission Statement: The mission of the Landlord and Tenant Board is to inform landlords and tenants about their rights and responsibilities under the Residential Tenancies Act and provide balanced and timely dispute resolution in accordance with the law.

The Board strives to provide, pursuant to section 183 of the RTA, the most expeditious method of determining the questions arising in a proceeding and to provide parties an adequate opportunity to know the issues and to be heard on the matter.

" The mission of the Landlord and Tenant Board is to inform landlords and tenants about their rights and responsibilities under the Residential Tenancies Act and provide balanced and timely dispute resolution in accordance with the law" .

THE ADJUDICATION PROCESS

The LTB handles a large volume of cases, resulting from the significant number of renters in Ontario (approximately 29% of Ontario's households²). The Board strives to ensure that its application resolution process meets both efficiency and quality service objectives. LTB adjudication is a final method used to resolve disputes between landlords and tenants. It consists of a hearing where the two parties appear before a Board Member who hears the case and makes a decision in accordance with the law.

Application Types

The work of the Board can be divided on a "case type" basis (see page 18, Applications by Type). The bulk of the Board's workload consists of applications from landlords to terminate the tenancy and evict for non-payment of rent and to collect arrears of rent (Form L1). The most common tenant application is an application about tenant rights (Form T2), dealing with such issues as illegal entry and interference with reasonable enjoyment of the rental unit. Another type of application the Board handles is a landlord's application for an above-guideline rent increase (Form L5), which often involves multiple tenants.

Average Processing Times

The following table illustrates the average length of time from the filing of an application to the initial hearing date for these applications, and the average time from the final hearing date to the date the order is issued. These statistics on timelines generally correspond to the complexity of the application types:

Application Type	Average time from application filing date to initial hearing date	Average time from hearing date to order issuance date
Form L1	21.5 days	1.56 days
Form T2	33.09 days	5.78 days
Form L5	89.55 days	14.5 days

Board Member Appointments

When an application is filed with the Board, it will most likely result in a decision from a Board Member. Board Members, appointed by Order-in-Council, perform the function of adjudicators of the applications. They are selected from a list of qualified candidates who have applied to the Public Appointments Secretariat. They undergo a rigorous and competitive interview and selection process and, based on the results of the interview process, the Chair will make recommendations to the Minister in regard to their appointment. The Minister makes a recommendation to the Cabinet who decides on the appointment.

² 2006 Census data obtained from Statistics Canada. The population of Ontario was approximately 12 million at the time of the 2006 Census.

Once Members are appointed to the Board, they receive the necessary training from the Board to become adjudicators. The initial training period, which spans a number of weeks, incorporates classroom instruction, hearing room observation and simulation and mentoring. The training provided by the Board, augmented by their previous experience and knowledge, prepares the Members to deal fairly and effectively with the issues that come before them.

Most Members are on full-time appointments; there are also some part-time Members. The Members report to the Chair of the Board, through a regional Vice Chair, and are located in different areas of the province as there are 8 regional offices to facilitate regional representation and service delivery.

Professional Development

Members from across the province meet together once a year for professional development. They also meet more frequently in their regions. These meetings provide on-going training and address any emerging issues. New case law or legislation that has a direct impact on their decision-making are summarized in legal memos by the Board's Legal Services Branch and distributed to Members. A minimum of four days are set aside each year for Members' continuing professional development. At times, Members also use on-line training to facilitate access. A professional development committee headed by a Vice Chair oversees ongoing educational opportunities for the Members.

Rule and Guideline Making

Although Board Members are independent decision-makers, the Board has an interest in achieving consistency and coherence in decision making. Rule and Guideline-making are mandated legislatively (section 176 of the RTA).

The Board has adopted the following process as a means of elevating an issue to the point of requiring rule or guideline-making. Issues that are identified from discussions held at regional Members' meetings, or by the Board's Legal Services Branch (LSB) or Program Development Unit (PDU), or from discussions with stakeholders, are first presented and discussed at "roundtables" of Vice Chairs.

When there is consensus or a preferred position is reached with respect to an interpretation of the legislation by the Vice Chairs, with the input of LSB and PDU, the matter may be referred to the Rules and Guidelines Committee for the development of a new or revised Rule or Guideline. Then, before new or proposed changes to the Rules and Guidelines are finalized, they are sent to members of the Board's Stakeholder Advisory Committee for consultation prior to being adopted by the Board and posted on the Board's website for the public.

Guidelines are not binding on Members in their decision-making, but they should generally be followed unless there is reason not to do so. The guidelines are available to the public so that parties know what to expect when they come before the Board.

THE ADJUDICATION PROCESS

Committee Work

Many Board Members, including Vice Chairs, sit on committees and working groups such as the Rules and Guidelines Committee, the CaseLoad Order Group (to review the format of Board orders), the Selected Decisions Committee, the Adjudicative Best Practices Committee, the Capacity Committee and other groups that gather opinions on specific issues. Vice Chairs often lead these committees which are constituted of Board Members, staff and legal services. Committee work is an important aspect of the work of the Board, as the Board seeks to identify and address important legal and procedural issues.

THE MEDIATION PROCESS

The Landlord and Tenant Board employs 25 Mediators throughout the province to provide voluntary mediation services to parties involved in applications before the Board. An application can be resolved through:

- adjudication (an order is signed by a Board Member),
- mediation (an agreement is signed by the parties only), or
- a consent order (an order based on an agreement between the parties is signed by a Member).

How Mediation Works

In adjudication, the outcome is decided by a Board Member, within the limits of the provisions of the legislation, having regard to all the evidence and circumstances elicited at the hearing. In mediation, however, the parties voluntarily work with a Board Mediator to achieve a desired outcome for the parties, which may contain terms outside the limits provided by the legislation. If successful, they will resolve their disputes through a mediated agreement signed by the parties, copies of which are not kept by the Board. Sometimes, parties choose, after mediation, to come before a Board Member to obtain a consent order which is enforceable under the RTA.

Mediation is a valuable tool in the daily work of the Board. Next year, the Board anticipates the recruitment of a Mediator Manager to oversee the management and performance of the Mediators at a provincial level. The Manager will establish a preferred approach to mediation, finalize the mediation best practices, and develop protocols, standards and performance measures.

Benefits of Mediation

During the 2008-2009 fiscal year, approximately 43% of all applications where both parties showed up at the hearing were successfully resolved through mediated agreements and/or resulted in consent orders. Mediation continues to be an important and effective non-adversarial method of resolving disputes, helping to save tenancies and reduce social costs, while strengthening the relationships between landlords and tenants.

OFFICE & HEARING LOCATIONS

The Board strives to make its services accessible to Ontarians across the province. There are eight Regional Board Offices which offer full services to clients. Landlords and tenants can file applications and obtain information from one of the Board's customer service representatives about their rights and obligations under the law, as well as attend hearings and participate in mediation.

Regional Offices

Approximately 65% of LTB hearings are held in these eight Regional Offices located in:

- Hamilton (Southern Region)
- London (Southwest Region)
- Mississauga (Central Region)
- Ottawa (Eastern Region)
- Sudbury (Northern Region)
- Toronto East - Scarborough area (Toronto East/Durham Region)
- Toronto North - North York area (Toronto North Region)
- Toronto South - Downtown area (Toronto South Region)

Off -site Hearing Locations

There are 36 "off-site" hearing locations to which Board Members and Mediators travel for hearings on a regular basis. These are: Barrie, Belleville, Bracebridge, Brantford, Brockville, Burlington, Chatham, Cobourg, Cornwall, Dryden, Elliott Lake, Goderich, Guelph, Hawkesbury, Kingston, Kitchener, Lindsay, Newmarket, North Bay, Orangeville, Owen Sound, Pembroke, Perth, Peterborough, Port Elgin, Sarnia, Sault Ste. Marie, Simcoe, St. Catharines, St. Thomas, Stratford, Thunder Bay, Timmins, Whitby, Windsor and Woodstock.

Electronic Hearings Pilot Project

There are also a number of locations, particularly in the northern parts of the province, where the Board holds hearings by videoconference and teleconference. In late 2008, the Board began considering how technology can help deliver services in a more timely and accessible manner. To that end, in early 2009, a pilot project was initiated to test the expanded use of telephone and videoconference technologies for mediation and hearings in a few locations across the province. The areas affected are the counties of Bruce, Grey, Haldimand / Norfolk and Huron where telephone hearings were piloted, as well as the district of Thunder Bay where videoconference hearings were piloted.

Sudbury Ontario

OFFICE & HEARING LOCATIONS

ServiceOntario Partnership

The Board has also partnered with ServiceOntario in over 70 locations across the province, to distribute forms and brochures, and to receive applications and other documents on behalf of the Board. This move helps to improve front-counter accessibility for clients throughout the province.

In the fall of 2008, the Board successfully transferred the responsibility for providing front-counter services from satellite offices in nine locations to ServiceOntario. The locations are: Kingston, Peterborough, Whitby, Barrie, Owen Sound, Kitchener, St. Catharines, Windsor and Thunder Bay. This initiative ensures that landlords and tenants have access to consistent and predictable Board services across Ontario outside the regional offices. The transfer is consistent with the government's goal of developing a "one-stop shopping" model to access government programs and services through ServiceOntario.

Boundary Changes

In the spring of 2009, the Board is making further adjustments to its structure by implementing some changes to its regional boundaries. These changes are brought forward to align the way the Board designates its regional boundaries with those established by the Ontario Public Service. These adjustments will not result in any changes to the staffing in Board offices, nor to any of its hearing locations. A list of the affected counties is set out in the following table:

The County of ...	Previously in Region	Has moved to ...
Bruce	Central	Southwest
Grey	Central	Southwest
Dufferin	Central	Southern
Parry Sound	Central	Northern
Halton	Southern	Central
Kawartha Lakes	Toronto East	Eastern
Haliburton	Toronto East	Eastern
Peterborough	Toronto East	Eastern
Northumberland	Toronto East	Eastern
Hastings	Toronto East	Eastern
Prince Edward	Toronto East	Eastern

CUSTOMER SERVICE THROUGH THE CALL CENTRE

Section 177 of the RTA sets out the Board's mandate to provide information to landlords and tenants about their rights and obligations under the legislation. In fulfilling this mandate, the Board's virtual Call Centre handles customer inquiries, in both English and French, through toll free lines. In the Greater Toronto Area, the phone number is (416) 645-8080; outside Toronto the number is 1-888-332-3234. Customer service representatives are available during regular business hours. An automated telephone service answers frequently asked questions 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. This year, the Board responded to over 500,000 telephone calls.

Landlords and tenants can sometimes resolve their disputes once they have been informed about the law. Also, if a landlord or tenant has filed an application with us, they can inquire about the status of their case via the telephone.

E GOVERNMENT

The Board's website, www.LTB.gov.on.ca, is visited more than one million times each month. All Board forms and brochures, the Rules of Practice, Interpretation Guidelines and the Board's complaint procedures are available on the website, in both English and French.

Brochures

Also available on the website is a Guide to the Residential Tenancies Act in Arabic, Chinese, Farsi (Persian), Korean, Punjabi, Russian, Spanish, Tamil, Urdu and Vietnamese³, as well as in English and French. Apart from this Guide, there are over 30 brochures posted on the website providing information on all major aspects of the RTA and the Board's services. Topics include the rent increase guideline, care homes, how to file an application, ending a tenancy, illegal lockouts, Board fees, information about a hearing and information for new tenants.

Clients can also find information on the website about the progress of their application, the date of their hearing and whether an order has been issued.

Case Management System

Following an extensive period of development, testing and training during the fiscal year covered by this report, the Board will begin phasing in its new case management system, Cmore in Spring 2009. Work on Cmore placed a tremendous demand on the Board's administrative resources this past fiscal year and continues to remain a priority for Head Office staff as it is implemented.

Cmore is being rolled out gradually to minimize any disruption to service for clients and is expected to be fully implemented by mid-July 2009. Along with Cmore come changes to the Board's file numbers - two digits reflecting the year an application was filed will now appear at the end of the file number. Once Cmore is fully implemented the Board will begin work on eFiling which is expected to be implemented sometime late in 2010.

The Cmore 'logo'

³ These are the ten most spoken languages, in addition to English and French, in Ontario according to 2001 Census data obtained from Statistics Canada.

FRENCH LANGUAGE SERVICES

The Board provides service to the public in both official languages in accordance with the French Language Services Act (the FLSA). All offices in areas designated by the FLSA have bilingual staff available to assist French-speaking clients. The Board's policy concerning the provision of French language services is set out in its Rules of Practice.

Services at Board Hearings

Where a party is entitled to and has requested French language service, the Board attempts to schedule a French-speaking Member to hear the case. Where this is not possible within a reasonable period of time, the Board will schedule the matter before an English-speaking Member and will ensure that an interpreter is present.

About 10% of Board Members can conduct hearings in French, and 8% of its Mediators can provide mediation service in French. Less than 0.5% of Board hearings were conducted in French over the past fiscal year.

All correspondence and decisions of the Board are provided in French to a party who has requested and is entitled to French language services.

The Public Accounts reflect consolidated numbers for the LTB and IEU (the Investigations and Enforcement Unit of the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing). Accordingly, to arrive at LTB numbers, Public Account numbers have been adjusted to remove IEU numbers. The Public Accounts also include office lease costs that were not included in the numbers reported in the 2006-07 and 2007-08 annual reports.

Administrative Review

In late 2007, at the request of the Deputy Minister, the consulting group KPMG conducted an Administrative Review of the Board. The emphasis of the Review was on management processes, structure, governance and accountabilities in order to identify long-term efficiencies and opportunities for savings.

Phase 1 of the Administrative Review was successfully implemented October 1, 2008 and has already achieved some efficiencies and savings. In Phase 1, the Board transferred the responsibility for providing its services from its counters in nine locations (in Thunder Bay, Barrie, Kitchener, Windsor, Owen Sound, St. Catharines, Whitby, Peterborough and Kingston) to ServiceOntario. It also clarified its internal management systems to facilitate operational efficiency.

STATISTICAL INFORMATION

Landlord vs Tenant Receipts

From April 1, 2008 to March 31, 2009, the Board received 85,840 applications filed under the RTA. This represents a substantial increase of 5,288 more applications over last year's workload, approximately 6.5%. The increase may be attributable, at least in part, to the difficult economic climate experienced by Ontarians in the past year.

The distribution of application receipts has remained relatively constant since 1998 when the resolution of landlord-tenant disputes was transferred from the provincial court system to the Board's predecessor, the Ontario Rental Housing Tribunal. This past year was no exception, with 92% of applications filed by landlords and 8% filed by tenants.

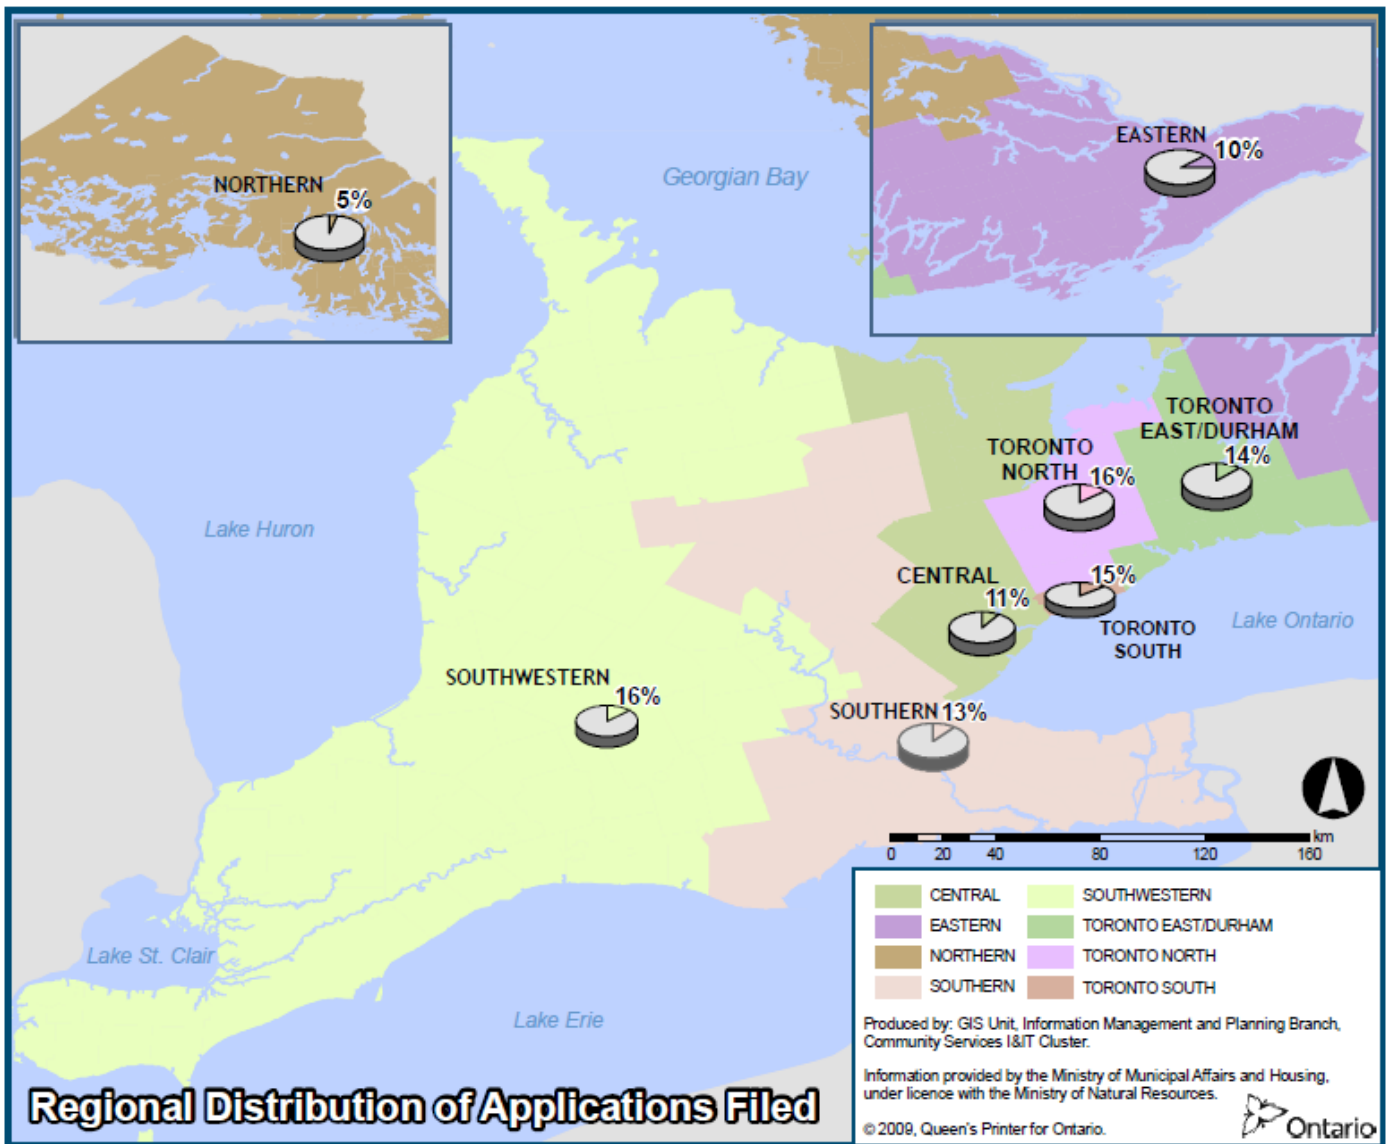

STATISTICAL INFORMATION

Regional Distribution of Applications

The regional distribution of applications filed with the Board is as follows:

STATISTICAL INFORMATION

Applications by Type (TPA)

During the 2008-2009 fiscal year, in addition to its RTA workload, the Board continued to resolve applications that had been filed under the Tenant Protection Act, 1997 (the TPA), but remained unresolved on January 31, 2007 when the RTA was proclaimed. The TPA was the legislation in effect prior to the implementation of the RTA on January 31, 2007.

Pending TPA Applications

At the beginning of this fiscal year, 125 TPA applications were still active. Between April 1, 2008 and March 31, 2009, the Board resolved 73 of those applications, leaving 66 TPA applications awaiting resolution. (The number of unresolved TPA applications may increase slightly as a party to a TPA application may, for example, still file a request to review a TPA order and this would be added to the TPA workload.)

Transitional Rules

Applications filed under the TPA continue to be resolved pursuant to the TPA, but with regard to certain transitional rules brought in by the RTA. For example, the Board cannot issue a default order on a TPA application if it was not resolved by January 31, 2007. Also, a Member hearing a TPA eviction application is now required to review all the circumstances of the application under section 83 of the RTA and to always consider delaying or refusing to grant a tenant's eviction. This is different from the discretionary provision that existed under a similar provision (section 84) in the TPA.

Case type	Application description	# of Cases
L1	Terminate & Evict for Non-Payment of Rent	22
T2	Tenant Rights	13
A3	Combined Application (L or T)	20
L5	Rent Increase above the Guideline	3
L2	Terminate & Evict for other reasons	10
T6	Maintenance	2
L4	Terminate the Tenancy: Failed Settlement	1
A2	Sublet or Assignment	2
	Total	73

As the following table demonstrates, the number of applications for rent increase above the guideline has been decreasing since 2001. This past year also showed a decrease over last year, with 228 applications of this type received by the Board, compared to 274 for the 2007-2008 fiscal year.

While the number of above guideline rent increase applications (AGIs) make up less than 1% of all applications received at the Board, these applications account for a relatively significant amount of preparation and hearing time for the Board's staff and Members. The Board continues to rely on mediation to help manage the workload for these applications.

Amended Applications Form (L5)

The Form L5 used by landlords to make this type of application to the Board was amended in November 2008, requiring landlords to provide the "useful life" of each capital expenditure item claimed, in order to facilitate the mediation of these applications. The amended form also required landlords to provide the file number for any previous AGI order to eliminate the possibility of double-counting, where a landlord previously applied for and obtained a rent increase for a particular item.

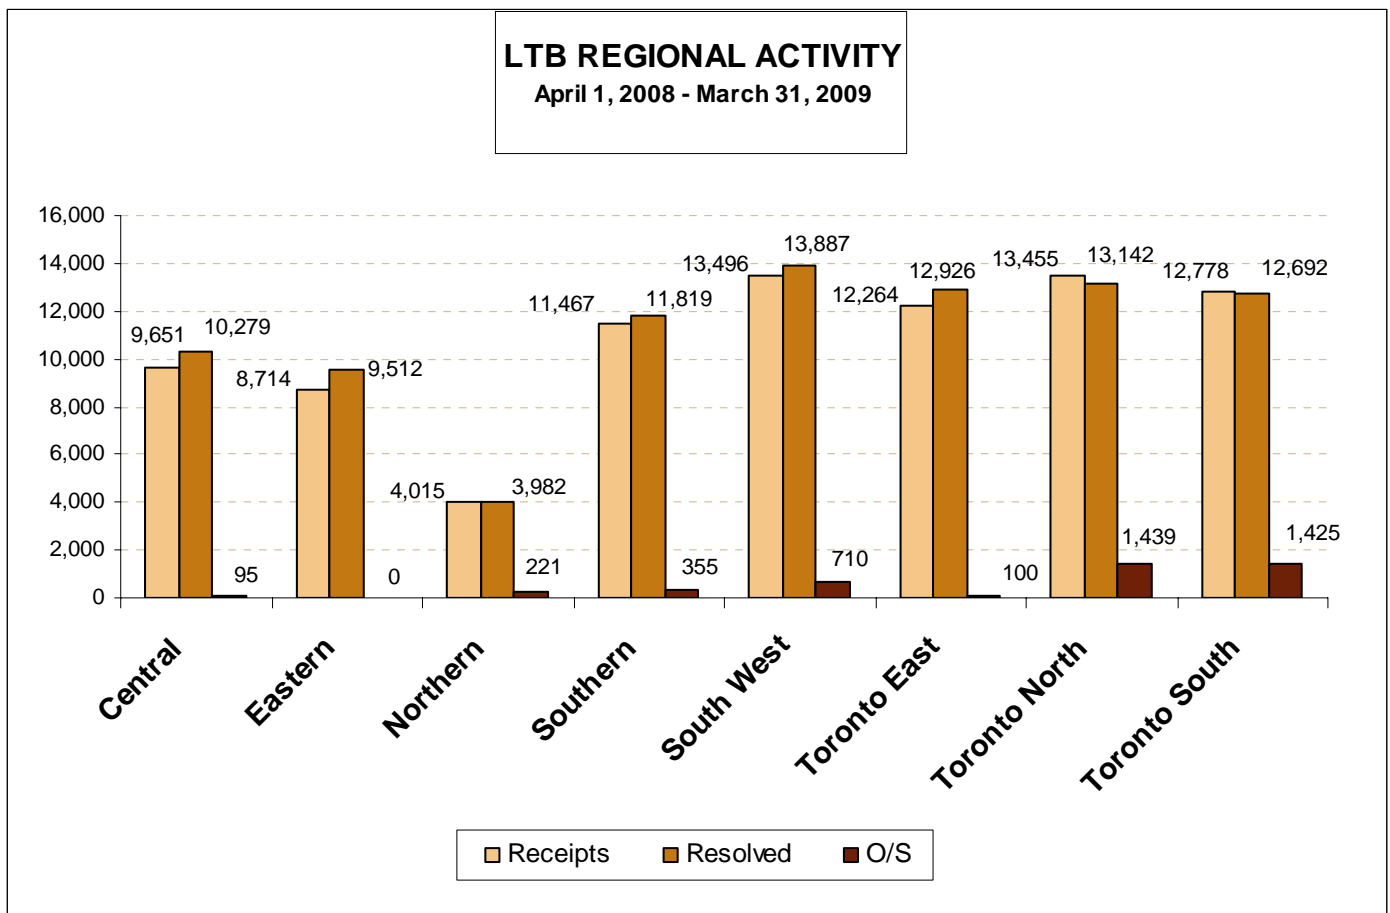

STATISTICAL INFORMATION

Application Resolution

Over the past year, the Board has continued to resolve applications without creating a backlog, despite the challenge of an increased workload. The Board has maintained only one month's receipts as open files. Most orders are issued within 20 days of the receipt of the application and even more complex orders are usually issued within 30 days. This year, 4,074 RTA applications remained unresolved as of March 31, 2009. This number represents less than one month's average work at the Board.

For the fiscal year 2008-2009, the Board received a total of 85,840 applications and resolved 88,239 applications. Some applications may generate more than one resolution because of the re-opening and review processes.

The following chart shows how application receipts and resolutions have remained relatively constant during the year.

STATISTICAL INFORMATION

Reviews and Appeals

A party to an application may ask for a review of a Board order if they believe that the order contains a serious error or that a serious error occurred in the proceedings, including where a party was not reasonably able to participate in the proceeding. The authority for requesting a review comes from section 21.2 of the Statutory Powers Procedure Act (the SPPA), subsection 209(2) of the RTA, and Rule 29 of the Board's Rules of Practice. The Rules also allow a Vice Chair of the Board to initiate a review.

The Review Process

A review of a Board order is decided by a Member other than the Member who heard the application and issued the order. Upon receipt of a review request, a Member conducts a preliminary review, without holding a hearing, to determine whether or not the order may contain a serious error or a serious error may have occurred in the proceedings. Where the Member determines that there is a possibility of a serious error affecting the result of the case, a review hearing will be held. Otherwise, the Member will dismiss the request for review.

Over the 2008-2009 fiscal year, the Board received 1,759 requests for review, of which approximately 65% were sent to a hearing. Please note that, in its 2007-2008 annual report, the Board incorrectly reported the number of requests for review received as 668; the correct number of requests received for that period was approximately 1,410.

Appeal to Divisional Court

Section 210 of the RTA also provides that any person affected by a Board order may appeal the order to the Divisional Court within 30 days after being given the order, but only on a question of law.

Over the 2008-2009 fiscal year, 161 Notices of Appeal of Board orders were received by the Board.

DECISION SUMMARIES

CEL-11709

- s. 27 - entry into rental unit with notice - s. 35 - changing locks - s. 64 - termination for cause, reasonable enjoyment

The Landlord had given the Tenant notice that the Landlord intended to enter into the Tenant's rental unit between the hours of 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. to inspect the rental unit to determine if it was in a good state of repair and fit for habitation. The Tenant refused entry to the Landlord. The Landlord also claimed that the Tenant had installed a form of pad lock on a chain which, in an emergency, would block the Landlord from having access to the rental unit. The Landlord did not have a key to the pad lock and had not authorized its use by the Tenant.

The Member dismissed the application relating to the issue of entry into the rental unit on the basis that the notice of entry did not comply with subsection 27 (3) of the RTA as it did not specify a time of entry within the twelve hour window (8 a.m. to 8 p.m.) set out in that provision of the RTA. The Member found that the Landlord did not have to be as specific as to set out the exact hour and minute of entry, but that a nine hour period does not comply with the RTA.

The Member found that the intent of section 35 of the Act is to ensure that a landlord has access to a rental unit in an emergency and ordered the Tenant to provide the Landlord with a key to the door and locking mechanism.

- s 18 - covenants running with the land - s. 105 - security deposits, limitation - s. 106 (2) - amount of rent deposit - Mortgages Act s. 47 - person deemed to be landlord

Pursuant to the Mortgages Act a mortgagee in possession is deemed to be the Landlord. The Tenant had voluntarily prepaid rent to the prior Landlord. The tenancy agreement between the Tenant and the prior Landlord did not contain a term providing for prepaid rent in an amount greater than one month's rent. The prepayment of rent occurred after the tenancy agreement had been entered into between the prior Landlord and the Tenant.

The Member, in allowing the current Landlord's application for arrears of rent and termination, found that the lease did not provide for the Tenant to prepay rent for a particular period and, therefore, the prepayment of rent was not a covenant intended to run with the land. The Member noted that in Royal Bank of Canada v. Boutis, the court characterized prepayment of rent as security deposits and, that "... the requirements of the Act dealing with such security deposits prevail over any agreement to the contrary between the parties." The Member concluded, "Clearly, the amount paid by the Tenant to the Prior Landlord is not in accordance with the Act and therefore, not legal ... As such, the Tenant is not entitled to a credit for the funds prepaid to the Prior Landlord and the Landlord is not responsible to make the Tenant's circumstances right."

- s. 59 - non-payment of rent - law of agency - superintendent having apparent authority to bind the landlord

During a hearing, the Tenant disputed the amount of monthly rent being claimed by the Landlord. In February 2007, the Tenant had received a notice that raised the rent to $846.00 per month. The superintendent of the residential complex, however, advised the Tenant that the Tenant was required to pay only the rent in effect prior to the increase, that is, $825.00 per month. Another year passed and in 2008, the Landlord gave another rent increase notice raising the rent to $867.00 and the Tenant then paid $846.00 per month following that notice.

The Member found that the Tenant reasonably relied upon the superintendent's apparent authority as an agent for the Landlord to bind the Landlord and to permit the Tenant to pay the lower rent of $825.00 for the year 2007-08 and the increase of the rent in February, 2008 was found to be the guideline amount (1.4%) applied to the $825.00 per month rent ($836.55 per month).

- clause 63 (1) (b) - termination for cause - shorter notice period - use of rental unit in a manner that is inconsistent with its use as a residential premises - significant damage

The Landlord sought termination of the tenancy and eviction on the basis that the Tenant parked his motorcycle in the rental unit, kept live chickens at the rental unit and modified the shed on the property to house live chickens. The Tenant agreed that he had three live chickens on the property that he kept in the shed and that he removed a brick from the shed to provide access to his chickens. The Tenant acknowledged that he once had a young chicken inside the rental unit but that chicken had died and submitted that the alleged motorcycle was, in fact, an electric bike that he kept in the rental unit because of his concerns about theft.

The Member, in dismissing the application, found that, to succeed in an application based on clause 63 (1)(b) of the RTA, the Landlord was required to prove (i) that the use of the rental unit was inconsistent with its use as residential premises, (ii) that the inconsistent use can be reasonably expected to cause damage or has caused damage and, (iii) that the amount of the damage is significantly greater than the amount that would be required to give the Tenant a Notice to Terminate the tenancy for damage under subsection 62 (1) or clause 63 (1)(a) of the RTA. In this case, the Member found that the damage occasioned by the removal of a brick in the shed did not meet the third part of the test and the inconsistent use of the rental unit relating to the storage of the motorcycle or electric bike did not occasion damage.

- s. 6 (2) - exemptions - rules relating to rent - s. 87 - application for an order for payment of arrears- s. 116 - notice of rent increase

The Landlord gave the Tenant a Notice of Rent Increase in 2007. The Tenant submitted that she was not required to pay the increased rent as, in 1996, the Landlord's property manager had given the Tenant a letter that purported to provide that as long as the Tenant remained in the rental unit, the rent for that unit would remain at the 1996 amount.

The Member relied upon and applied the Divisional Court's decision in Barber v. 1086891 Ontario Inc., and found that the Landlord was not estopped from increasing the rent despite the letter indicating otherwise.

The Member also found that, in accordance with clause 6 (2) (c) of the RTA, as the rental unit was part of a building that was constructed in 1994, and, therefore not occupied for residential purposes prior to November 1, 1991, the rent for the rental unit was not subject to guideline increases, and the Landlord was entitled to impose a greater than guideline increase.

SWL-16920

- s. 78 - application based on mediated settlement - order terminating tenancy - motion to set aside order - s. 69.3, Bankruptcy and Insolvency Act (Canada) - automatic stay of proceedings

The Landlords had filed an application with the Board seeking termination of the tenancy and eviction on the basis of arrears of rent. The application was filed two weeks before the Tenant filed an assignment in bankruptcy and was scheduled to be heard one day after the filing of that assignment. On the hearing date, the Landlord and Tenant entered into a mediated settlement that encompassed the period of three months before the assignment into bankruptcy and one month after it and provided for payment of the arrears. Four weeks after the date of the mediated settlement, the Landlords filed a proof of claim in the bankruptcy. Later, the Landlords, pursuant to section 78 of the RTA, obtained an ex parte order for arrears and for termination and eviction from the Board which the Tenant moved to set aside.

The issue before the Board on the return of the Tenant's motion was whether the Board had the jurisdiction to make the order terminating the tenancy and evicting the Tenant.

In setting aside the order the Landlord's had obtained ex parte, the Member considered and applied the Divisional Court's decisions in Forestwood Co-operative Homes Inc. v. Pritz and in Peel Housing Corporation v. Siewnarine, and found that the case before her was consistent with Forestwood insofar as the Landlords had applied for both arrears and termination of the tenancy in the same application to the Board and the termination and arrears were inextricably linked and formed part of a claim provable in bankruptcy. The Member found that all amounts claimed in the Landlord's original application before the Board were stayed by virtue of the bankruptcy and that any new arrears that may have arisen subsequent to the period provided for in the mediated settlement could possibly be sought by the Landlords in a new proceeding. The Member, therefore, dismissed the Landlord's application for an order of the Board terminating the tenancy and evicting the tenant.

- s. 126 - application for above guideline increase - s. 129 - capital expenditures - Ontario Regulation 516/06 - Schedule - Useful Life of Work Done or Thing Purchased

The Landlord applied for an order permitting an above guideline increase. The Member found that the Landlord had justified an above guideline increase because of capital expenditures in relation to window replacement and renovations in the common areas of the buildings.

Single pane-windows which had outlived their useful life were replaced with double-glazed aluminium windows in all the rental units. The Member found that the window replacement was an eligible capital expenditure.

The Landlord made a number of common area renovations to the main lobby, hallways, the laundry room and elevators, including, replacement of the flooring, change of the lighting, merging a cleaning supply room and old mail room to create a social room for the Tenants, replacement of carpeting in the corridors and replacement of the flooring and interior skin in the elevators. The Tenants contended that the common area renovation work was substantially cosmetic in nature, designed to enhance the level of prestige or luxury in the building and did not meet the definition of "capital expenditure" in s. 18 (1) of O. Reg. 516/06. The Tenants particularly contested the eligibility of the expenditure related to the social room.

The Member found that the Landlord did not establish, on a balance of probabilities, that the social room met any of the eligibility tests in s. 126 (7) of the RTA or any of the exceptions in s. 126 (8) of the RTA. The Member severed the expense for the social room from the balance of the Landlord's claim. The Member allowed the balance of the claim relating to the common area expenses and found that, although there is a cosmetic aspect to any new installation, the renovations were not substantially cosmetic in this case.

The Member also found that the RTA does not permit the Board to consider the potential tax deductions the Landlord may be able to take for capital expenditures that are incurred and also found that the ordinary guideline increase is designed to take into account increases in a landlord's building maintenance and operating costs, but not extraordinary expenses such as eligible capital expenditures.

- s. 61 - termination for cause, illegal act - s. 83 - powers of Board, eviction - Human Rights Code (Ontario) s. 17 - duty to accommodate

A tenant who lived in a residential complex that adjoined the Tenant's residential complex had been unable to park her car in the parking lot as a result of the Tenant having positioned his car in a manner that blocked the neighbouring tenant. The Tenant, in response to the neighbouring tenant's attempt to cause the Tenant to move his car, assaulted his neighbour and, in doing so, caused minor injuries to her. The Tenant was charged with and pleaded guilty to assault.

Prior to the incident in question, the Tenant lived in another property controlled by the same Landlord. While a tenant at the other property, the Tenant had been arrested and charged with making threats, criminal harassment and mischief relating to another tenant. As a result of that arrest, the Tenant had been required to stay at least 100 meters away from the victim tenant. In order to permit the Tenant to comply with the Court's order, the Landlord moved the Tenant to the Tenant's current rental unit in August 2007.

There was evidence that the Tenant's criminal conduct was linked to his mental illness. The parties agreed that the Tenant had a disability within the meaning of the Human Rights Code.

The Member applied the Divisional Court's decision in Walmer Developments v. Wolch in determining whether to exercise the Member's discretion to grant relief from eviction. The Member found that the Landlord had accommodated the Tenant's disability to the point of undue hardship, and found that there was a real possibility that the Tenant may engage in further illegal activity if the Tenant were to remain in the rental unit. Accordingly, the Member did not give the Tenant relief from eviction, but delayed the eviction to give the tenant more time to secure appropriate alternative accommodation where he could have regular access to support services.

TNL-09252-RV

- s. 209 (2) RTA; s. 21.2 Statutory Powers Procedure Act - review - Rule 29 - Guideline 8

On an application by the Landlord, the Board had terminated the tenancy of the Tenant. The Tenant filed a request to review the Board's order, and, in that review request filed a four-page letter, new documents that had not been filed at the original hearing and raised a number of other objections.

The Member, in dismissing the review request, set out the Board's review process with particular reference to the fact that only an issue deemed on its face to raise a potentially serious error in the original order or proceedings will be referred to a review hearing.

The Member found that it is not sufficient for a party requesting a review to simply file new documents and expect the Board to determine that the new documents reveal some error in the decision. The Member found that, particularly given that the review consideration proceeds initially on an ex parte basis, unless the party who filed the new documents on the review provides evidence as to why the Board should even consider the new documents at the review stage, it is improper for the Board to review those documents.

The Member found that, in addition to the issue of the documents filed with the review request, the Tenant did not provide particulars of the errors in the original proceedings that the Tenant alleged.

- s. 13 (2) - commencement of tenancy - actual entry not required - s. 107 - rent deposit - prospective tenant - s. 135 - money collected or retained illegally

On October 1, 2007, the Tenant paid a rent deposit of $750.00 and signed an application form for a rental unit with the tenancy commencing on November 1, 2007. The application form contained a provision that read, "the landlord's acceptance of the deposit does not constitute a tenancy agreement". On October 25, 2007, the prospective Tenant advised the Landlord's employee that he did not wish to move into the rental unit and requested the return of the deposit. The Landlord did not return the rent deposit and re-rented the unit for December 1, 2007. The Tenant applied to the Board to seek return of the rent deposit.

The Member found that the applicant was not a Tenant for the purposes of the RTA and therefore the Board had no jurisdiction to deal with the matter. The Tenant filed a request to review that decision. The Reviewing Member found that the initial decision contained an error of law, in view of section 135 and subsection 107(1) of the RTA.

The Reviewing Member found that, when the prospective Tenant paid the deposit and signed the application form, the prospective Tenant intended to be bound and that a tenancy agreement arose on the Landlord's acceptance of the application form and the deposit. The Reviewing Member considered, applied and distinguished the Divisional Court's decision in Benedetto v. Dineen.

In Benedetto v. Dineen, the Landlord had obtained a rent deposit from prospective tenants, advised the prospective Tenants that the rent deposit was non-refundable and demanded that they obtain a guarantor. The prospective Tenants were unable to obtain a guarantor and no lease was signed. The prospective Tenants asked for a refund of their rent deposit and the Landlord refused to refund that deposit.

The Ontario Rental Housing Tribunal found that section 118.1 of the TPA (section 107 of the RTA) applied in these circumstances and since vacant possession of the rental unit was not given to the prospective Tenants, the rent deposit had to be refunded. The Tribunal also found that the Landlord's assertion that the deposit was non-refundable was wrong by virtue of section 16 of the TPA (s. 4 of the RTA) insofar as a provision in a tenancy agreement that was inconsistent with the TPA was void. The Landlord appealed to the Divisional Court and argued that the Tribunal's interpretation of section 118.1 of the TPA was incorrect as the Landlord was willing and able to give vacant possession of the rental unit, but the prospective Tenants refused to accept his offer. The Divisional Court dismissed the Landlord's appeal and held that the Tribunal's decision was correct.

The Reviewing Member, in dismissing the prospective Tenant's application, found that, in this case, unlike the case in Benedetto, the prospective Tenant clearly entered into a binding tenancy agreement with the Landlord. The Member applied subsection 13 (2) of the RTA that provides that a tenancy agreement takes effect when the tenant is entitled to occupy the rental unit whether or not the tenant actually occupies it. The Member found that the tenancy existed for the month of November 2007 and the deposit was applied by the Landlord for the last month of the tenancy, that is, November 2007.

- s. 2 - interpretation, "landlord" - s. 57- former tenant's application where notice given in bad faith - s. 187 (2) - add or remove parties

The Tenant had resided at the rental unit for nearly 25 years and had a good relationship with "Landlord 1" who operated a business on the main floor below the rental unit. The Tenant vacated the unit after having received a second Notice of Termination from Landlord 1 for the purchaser's (Landlord 2) own use.

The Tenant claimed that he became aware that no one had moved into the rental unit within a reasonable period after he had moved.

Landlord 1 testified that he relied on the real estate agent retained by both Landlords 1 and 2 who had told Landlord 1 that Landlord 2 required vacant possession of the entire building and that Landlord 2 intended to live in the rental unit.

Although Landlord 2 did not want to be a party to the former Tenant's application, the Member found that it was appropriate that Landlord 2 be added as a party as the definition of "Landlord" in section 2 of the RTA includes successors in title.

Landlord 2 testified that she had not told the real estate agent that she required vacant possession of the rental unit and that she had no contact with Landlord 1 throughout the purchase and sale of the property.

The Member, in applying clause 57 (1)(b) of the RTA found that Landlord 1 relied on the agent's assurances about the intention of Landlord 2 to occupy the rental unit, and also found that Landlord 2 had never indicated that she intended to occupy the rental unit. The Member found that "bad faith" is "not "simply bad judgment or negligence, but rather it implies the conscious doing of a wrong because of a dishonest purpose..." and further found that the fact that Landlord 2 did not move in did not, on its own, demonstrate bad faith.

The Member dismissed the former Tenant's application. The Member found that, if anyone was at fault, it was the real estate agent, and, that neither Landlord 1 nor Landlord 2 had acted in bad faith.

- s. 66 - termination for cause, act impairs safety s. 78 - application based on previous order - s.83 - power of Board, eviction - Human Rights Code - s. 10 - disability - s. 17 - duty to accommodate

The residential complex housed persons who have mental illnesses. The Tenant, who had a disability because of mental illness, had assaulted other tenants in the residential complex.

The Member found that the Tenant's conduct seriously impaired the safety of other tenants in the residential complex. The Member found, however, that there had been no further incidents for two months prior to the hearing, the assaults were at the lower end of the spectrum, the Tenant was remorseful and, to the date of the hearing, the Landlord's attempts at accommodation within the meaning of the Human Rights Code were minimal.

The Member found that the Tenant's actions resulted from the Tenant's disability. Having considered the Landlord's duty to accommodate to the point of undue hardship, the Member issued a conditional order continuing the tenancy and requiring the Tenant to refrain from assaulting anyone in the residential complex for twelve months. In the event of a future assault by the Tenant within the twelve month period from the date of the order, the Landlord could apply to the Board under section 78 of the RTA for termination and eviction.
